

Social Credit Candidate Addresses Electors of Pass

Abolish Poverty in Midst of Plenty is Slogan; Old Line Parties Scored

Opening with a verse of their theme song, "O God Our Help in Ages Past," Social Credit supporters were addressed by E. O. Duke, candidate, in the Community hall on Tuesday evening, the body of the hall being well filled.

Assisting speakers were Mrs. F. G. Grevette and Mr. D. B. Mitchell of Calgary. Alex. Easton as chairman introduced the speakers.

Mr. Mitchell, a C.P.R. railway worker of Calgary, stated we were living at a poverty level in an age of plenty, and Social Credit aimed to do away with this through the policy formulated by Major Douglas. The major had prophesied twelve years ago there would be a period of inflation, followed by depression and unemployment problems. We are now living in a machine age, and commodities had been destroyed in order that price control might be maintained by a few. He predicted more unemployment unless we had a new deal. He had not earned a dollar since New Year's day, and in fourteen months had only earned $100. The problem of distribution must be solved.

An increase of population brought an increase in land values, and he cited the increase in value of real estate adjacent to the Eaton Co. building in Calgary when that firm built. Owners reaped a profit without any exertion on their part, a value which was created by association of ownership. He stated a friend of his living near Calgary sold a ton of milk for less than $3.00. Social Credit would provide people with "tickets" to buy goods and so do away with poverty in the midst of plenty.

Many young people have yet to earn their first dollar, some up to 27 and 28 years of age had never had the opportunity to earn. People who support the present system leave themselves open to criticism. He cited from an old report of 100 years ago on conditions when child labor was employed in Great Britain, with children working 18 hours a day and they had to be strapped to keep awake, and fell asleep while they were being fed.

MRS. GREVETTE

Mrs. Grevette, introduced as a past vice-president of the Social Council of Women, and a vice-president of the Social Credit movement, said we were here for serious business. She was glad to see Mr. Hoyle among the audience, who, like herself, was not chosen, but was still a staunch supporter of the movement. Going back to 1760, she quoted laws and customs to show the progress which had been made in present-day conditions as regards the rights of women. She quoted a passage from the 24th chapter of Deuteronomy, 5th verse, which refers to a man managing a wife. We hear many voices over the radio, she stated, and told the old joke of the man spreading manure over his strawberry patch, the point being that if he voted for Social Credit, he would be spreading cream instead.

Many had been called to rescue those who were perishing. She did not admire Duncan Marshall for coming to tell Alberta people how to vote, and scored the broadcasts and propaganda of the Economic Safety League. She remembered the Liberals telling people in 1921 the province would go to the dogs if they were not returned. What had the old line parties done? It was no use to return them to power.

In regard to money, the mystery of it had been exploded under Social Credit teachings. Sea shells are used as money by people in the Solomon Islands. Money stood in the way of happiness. Boys and girls are leaving school, with nowhere to go, and are potential victims for mental institutions. The reason so many teachers were in the movement was because they came into contact with so many under-nourished children, and the speaker told of some extreme cases of this nature. Women under the present system were considered of less value than a pedigreed stock. They should not believe the nice things political candidates would say to them to get their votes. The only worth-while things women got were what they fought for. She cited Premier Bennett's holdings of bank shares, which gave him an income or dividend of $13,000.00 a year, and asked the audience—"Wouldn't you like something like that?"

FORMER CHAIRMAN OF COLEMAN SCHOOL BOARD DIES AT ARROW PARK

Tennis Players Fine Showing in Provincial Tourney at Calgary

W. Balloch Won Ferris Cup and Country Singles in Provincial Tournament

Coleman tennis stars, Balloch, Shone and Roughhead, blazed their way to fame in the provincial tennis tournament held at Calgary last week. All reached the finals in different events, Balloch winning two, while Roughhead lost two and Shone one.

Roughhead was unfortunate in having a hard draw, meeting Kinloch of Edmonton and defending champion in the first round of the open singles, and McIntosh, second ranking player in Edmonton, in the first round of the Ferris cup. He lost both those matches. He finally hit his stride on Wednesday and continued to defeat opponents till he went into the finals of the junior singles and standard singles, where he blew up to lose both events.

Shone played the best tennis of his career and was a favorite with the gallery every time he stepped on the court. "Seeded" or "unseeded" players looked all the same to Shone as he knocked them over with abandon. T. F. Forchuck, number one player in the Ferris cup and Chambers of Cadomin, Shone beat two exceptionally good players. In the game with the latter player Shone was trailing 5-2, 0-40, and fought back to secure a thrilling victory. Shone met Balloch in the final of the Country Singles where he lost out. In the Country Singles event three of the semi-final brackets were occupied by the three Coleman players out of a first round draw of close to thirty players.

Balloch was a nettle in the side of a number of Calgary players as he tumbled three of their highly touted stars, King, Anderson and Costello, all ranking players in the province. He was picked by the Edmonton "Bulletin" as the ultimate winner of the Ferris Cup and he came through to win with ease. He beat Anderson of Calgary, "seeded" number one in the second round and never lost a set in the entire event. Stark of Calgary

GEORGE G. COOTE

First elected as U.F.A. candidate in 1921, representing Macleod Federal constituency continuously since, Mr. Coote was again unanimously nominated at a convention held last week at Claresholm. No other nominations were placed before the convention. A resolution that Mr. Coote affiliate with the Stevens' party was definitely defeated, but Mr. Coote was left a free hand to co-operate as he deemed advisable in the interests of the farmers.

BIG GAME PARTIES

Among the big game hunting parties that are visiting Alberta this fall will be one from Hawaii, headed by L. W. Wishard, owner of large sugar plantations in the islands. There will be four in this party, which will go into the Jasper-Entrance area west of Edmonton. Another party will be headed by General E. R. Wood, president of Sears-Roebuck, Chicago, who was in Alberta last year.

and ultimate winner of the Open Singles, gave Balloch his only defeat, winning 7-5, 6-4. In the Country Singles Balloch won, meeting Shone in the final and winning out in two hard-fought sets.

Fernie Footballers Win by Score 6-4

Jimmy Joyce Scores Four Goals for Coleman Against Fernie in League Game

Coleman's fullbacks and George Ford in goal did not play up to their usual form last Saturday, allowing Fernie to score fairly easily, including a penalty kick against Ford. Jimmy Joyce scored hard to retrieve for the home team, and succeeded in getting four goals in rather brilliant play.

A heavy shower kept a number of spectators from attending, and the muddy ground made the ball heavy. Coleman line-up: G. Ford, L. Griffiths, J. Fraser, W. Fraser, Mac Conville, J. Hastings, W. Anderson, L. Moore, J. Joyce, R. Hume, Fred Brown.

COLEMAN JUNIORS DEFEATED MICHEL F. C.

Playing at Coleman on Wednesday, August 7, Coleman Juniors defeated Michel Junior by a score of 6-2, to mark up their ninth victory of the season.

Play in the first half was close, but in the second the locals showed superior combination, with the result that they scored three goals with no reply from the opposition.

Outstanding in the success were Foss Boulton and Douglas Moores, the former scoring two goals and the latter four.

TOURISTS FROM U.S.

Over 6,500 cars containing U.S. tourists entered Alberta at the ports or Coutts and Carway during the months of May, June and July, according to customs figures. It is estimated that nearly 20,000 passengers travelled in these cars. These figures do not include cars entering Alberta through the Crow's Nest Pass or Banff park.

If it is found that water is being willfully wasted by users of garden hose, steps will be taken to have that service discontinued.---Town Council.

Nature Upsets Man's Plans

Harvest time in Western Canada has again arrived and for the next few weeks great activity, from early morning till late at night, will be the rule right across these western plains. Following several years of short crops, and in many sections complete failure of crops due to drought, and consequently lack of resources on the part of tens of thousands of farmers to seed and harvest a crop this year, governments and municipalities, banks, mortgage, loan and implement companies made provision whereby farmers were supplied with seed, fodder, seed, gas and oil, machinery repairs, binder twine, and other essentials to the seedling and harvesting of a crop. Each individual farmer may not have received all that he desired, but, speaking broadly, the needs of the situation were fairly well met.

Taking the country as a whole, and excepting certain more or less restricted areas, copious rains have fallen throughout the growing season, following a somewhat late seedling. Up to a few weeks ago prospects for at least a normal, if not above normal crop, were bright. Grasshoppers and cut worms which were at first threatened, seemed to have been brought under control, weather conditions prevailing being a main factor to that end. Prospects for a fairly large and satisfactory crop were excellent, and estimates of as high as 350,000,000 to 400,000,000 bushels of wheat were commonly made.

But last month the bright picture became clouded as rust made its appearance in the wheat fields, coming in from the southeast and spreading rapidly westward and northward. Governments, financial concerns, economic planners, farmers, every human agency is powerless against this development of Nature. For years technical agricultural experts, chemists and scientists employed by Governments have been seeking a means to offset the ravages of rust and to develop a strain of wheat that will be rust-resistant. But Nature this year has defied all their efforts, and it is now self-evident that Western farmers will sustain heavy losses through the effect of rusted crops.

Estimates of the loss through rust already run as high as 100,000,000 bushels of wheat; some estimates are even higher, and, of course, the actual loss will not be known until the harvest is completed. On many farms, even in some municipalities, no wheat will be harvested.

There is no desire to be alarmist in reviewing this situation. Notwithstanding the inroads by rust upon what a few weeks ago was one of the most promising crops in many years, the general agricultural situation is decidedly better than for some years past. Grass again covers great areas of the West which recently presented a desert-like appearance. Feed and fodder formerly lacking is now available. Garden crops are generally reported to be good. But the big cash crop of the West, wheat, will be smaller and of decidedly less value than was hoped for and expected a few weeks ago.

The whole country must face this unfortunate fact and meet it to the best of its ability. No human agency can be held responsible for the losses sustained. It was beyond Governments, corporations, and individuals alike to prevent. All will be included in the losses sustained—Governments through loss of revenues and the necessity of providing assistance where it was not anticipated; it would be necessary; railways through loss of traffic and therefore loss of revenues; elevator, machine company and other employees, including farm laborers, through less employment; financial concerns to whom money for advances made is owing but which cannot be paid as fully as was anticipated; farmers more especially because the returns for their year's labor are swept away or very largely reduced. In a word, no existing political, financial, economic, or social system is responsible for the heavy losses the country is sustaining. Nature and conditions developed under its inscrutable laws are the sole cause.

But Nature is not always unkind. In the long run it always strikes a fair balance. Its laws operate not for one year, but throughout cycles of years. Man must not only recognize this truth, but govern himself accordingly. There is no good end to be served by becoming despondent and discouraged. There is only one thing necessary to do, and that is to face the situation and the problems presented. Losses to-day will be compensated for by gains to-morrow. That is a law of Nature. Therefore, the future should be faced with courage and determination. Life is a battle and must be fought. Man could not exist on "flowery beds of ease." If he is to succeed and reach the topmost rungs of the ladder of life, he must exert himself and climb, battling against all obstructions in his way, eradicating the weeds that cling and clog his steps, removing weaknesses and strengthening the ladder. Climbing he will become stronger; crouching at the foot of the ladder, waiting for somebody to carry him up, he will become flabby and weak and eventually succumb. Courage and determination, which will bring confidence, is essential to success in any walk of life. And in the long run Nature will not bar the way, rather it will be found helpful and co-operating.

Wood Ready For Use

Germany Has Treatment To Season Trees While Growing

Telegraph poles, railway ties and other heavy wood necessities may be grown to order by a treatment which has just been discovered in Germany. Trees are made to season themselves so that when felled their wood is ready for immediate use. A bore hole is made in the tree trunk, and a special chemical solution containing arsenic and other salts is injected into the living tree. These chemicals enter the sap stream of the tree, and are gradually carried to the ends of the highest branches. The tree does not survive the treatment very long, but as it dies it becomes thoroughly saturated with preservative and can be used on railway ties or telegraph poles and telephones without any of the usual treatment.

Trying For New Record

Speed Of 300 M.P.H. Is Sir Malcolm Campbell's Aim

A circus of record breaking under the boiling sun on Utah's salt desert is planned as the greatest show in the history of automobile speed racing, is the September aim of Sir Malcolm Campbell and Captain George Eyston, Britain's swiftest drivers.

The speed kings announced their plans to sail together, Sir Malcolm to shoot again at his dream of 300 miles an hour in the veteran Bluebird; Eyston to tackle every mark between that one and 24 hours.

Filled with glowing accounts of the Bonneville salt flats subside by his friend, John Cobb, who recently set 21 new records there, Campbell is confident that old Lady Bluebird, the six-ton thunder wagon that roared to the present land speed record of 276.518 on the sea of Daytona Beach last winter, finally will carry him this time over a mile in 12 seconds flat—300 miles an hour.

"I'm sure I'll beat 300 this time," Campbell said. "Then I'll chuck racing and stick to business."

The 50-year-old Englishman who has no challenger to-day for speed over a measured mile has made a few alterations in the Bluebird since his return from Florida.

Captain Eyston, who in the past nine years has set 200 records, more than any other living man, will alternate record tries with Campbell. Eyston will drive a fearsome looking front-drive juggernaut, powered with a 400-horsepower Rolls Royce aviation engine. Its tanks carry 46 gallons of gasoline, giving it a 500-mile range without refueling. Eyston believes he can average 160 miles an hour or higher for 24 hours and is bringing Albert Denly along to drive relief.

Fingerprints By Radio

Experiments Have Shown Great Improvement In Results Obtained

Transmission of fingerprints by radio is the latest link between science and criminal detection—a link that is being more strongly forged by Scotland Yard every day. Experiments were begun several months ago. Although not yet regarded as an every day practice in business, considerable improvement has recently been made in the results obtained.

At first the images were blurred, even when sent from enlarged prints, but greater technical experience is gradually overcoming this drawback. The time is very near when in urgent cases, portable apparatus will be used to transmit fingerprints direct from the scene of the crime to Scotland Yard records. It was predicted.

As the technique of wired and radio transmission improves, it will be possible to send life-size fingerprint photographs speedily over any distance, police believe. Scotland Yard rapidly turns new scientific inventions to its own use in the fight against criminals. The present head of the famed investigating department, Lord Trenchard, has had much to do with the reorganization plans.

Demand For Homespun

Women In Quebec Are Kept Busy Filling Orders

Spinning wheels and hand looms in the district around Murray Bay, Quebec, are kept busy as the housewives try to fill demands of the fashionable world for homespun fabrics.

For years Murray Bay has been famous as the home of homespun. Its fine, soft blankets and candle-wick spreads have been carried away by tourists to far parts of Canada, the United States and Europe. This year there are still the blankets, spreads and hooked rugs, but the rage is for homespun fabrics, from which suits and skirts, sport jackets and coats are being made.

Much of the charm of the new fabrics is in their natural coloring and weave. Colors are from natural vegetable dyes, the habitation women making the fabrics from beginning to end.

Though women are doing most of the buying of habitation homespuns, men are also using them for sports wear.

Power Of Sun Rays

Amount Of Sunburn In Sunlight Measured By Machine

Government scientists of the United States have announced today a machine which measures the amount of sunburn in sunlight.

Dr. W. W. Coblenz, internationally famous radiation expert of the National Bureau of Standards, has perfected the machine which measures the ultraviolet rays of sunlight which cause sunburn and tanning. The machine is known technically as a portable precision ultraviolet ray meter.

Ultraviolet rays comprise less than a thousandth of the total radiation coming from the sun, Dr. Coblenz said. Yet these particular rays are strong enough to scorch the skin with only several hours exposure during the summer months. The rays are also used in treating rickets.

Tests have been made at Washington and San Juan, Puerto Rico. They are approximately sea level and relatively free from smoke and dust. Dr. Coblenz pointed out that altitude and flying particles were factors in measuring solar radiation.

The "tanning" rays were somewhat stronger at San Juan than in Washington at the same comparative altitudes. This conforms with other radiation studies made in the tropics which show that the sun, being directly overhead, has to send its light through less ozone in the atmosphere. Experts estimate that the sunlight reaching Washington has to travel through approximately five per cent. more atmosphere than at San Juan, thus absorbing more ultraviolet rays.

Other tests performed at Flagstaff, Ariz., showed less ozone in the atmosphere than in the Washington area, and therefore a greater atmospheric transparency. Autumn was found to be more transparent there than the spring, experts found.

Fog takes its share of the ultraviolet rays out of the sunlight and there is less possibility of tanning when humidity is high, it was found. Physicians are interested in the device because of the curative power of ultraviolet rays in cases of rickets, which is practically unknown in the tropics.

The present machine screens out the ultraviolet or "tanning" rays in the sunlight and measures them quantitatively with the aid of a photo-electric cell.

Sees Market In Britain

Opportunity For Export Of Tuberculin-Free Cattle From Canada

Prevalence of bovine tuberculosis in Great Britain provides a great opportunity for Canadian cattle breeders to develop a large market for tuberculin-free cattle, Dr. Arthur Stephens, member of the British Association of Veterinarians, said at Toronto before enjoining for Winnipeg. Dr. Stephens is an alderman of Swansea, South Wales.

"Sixty per cent. of cattle in Great Britain show tuberculin in tests," Dr. Stephens stated. "Canada's development in recent years has shown that this can be reduced. For this reason and because opinion in Great Britain is strongly in favor of tuberculin-free herds, I believe a wonderful opportunity exists to benefit both Canadian cattle-breeders and the British people."

Section Of Thames Named In Honor Of Jubilee

The river Thames, so far as it runs through the metropolitan district of London, is divided into a series of sections called "reaches." There is Chiswick Reach, Blackwall Reach, Greenwich Reach, Gallions Reach and so on, but one section appeared to have escaped being named, a deficiency which has just been rectified in honor of the King's silver Jubilee. This is the stretch between the Pool of London, so familiar in pictures, just west of the Tower Bridge, and Lambeth Reach, which terminates on the Houses of Parliament side of Westminster Bridge. The Port of London Authority has decided to call it "The King's Reach."

Once upon a time the Thames was more used as the King's Highway than the road itself between Westminster and the Tower of London, the royal residence, St. James Palace being at one end while His Majesty often had business at the Tower—sometimes very dirty business at that. So that "The King's Reach" is an appropriate name for this important waterway. It includes London Bridge, Southwark Bridge, Blackfriars Bridge, Waterloo Bridge to Westminster, and on the shoreline are such noted places as Billingsgate Fish Market, Cannon street railway station, St. Paul's Cathedral, Victoria Embankment, including Cleopatra's Needle, Somerset House, where wills are filed and all the births, deaths and marriages in England are registered, Charing Cross and Scotland Yard.

So if you should happen to be in Old London and lean over the parapet somewhere between the Houses of Parliament and the Tower looking at what John Burns calls "liquid history," that part is "The King's Reach."—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Gave Address On Slang

Professor Of English Says It Is Language On Trial

At the spring meeting of Yorkshire Dialect Society held at Wilberforce House, J. H. Green, Professor of English language and philology in Liverpool University gave an address on slang, cant, and jargon. He said it was impossible to acquire a thorough knowledge of English without being familiar with slang and vulgarisms. Slang was language but not words or expressions had any real meaning outside its context and the situation in which it occurred. Cant was originally the secret language of the underworld, and he defined jargon as language unintelligible out of its proper sphere. Consideration would show the absurdity of condemning slang unheard. Attempts had been made to classify it according to occupations. What he really wanted was more knowledge about the passing of sectional slang into general slang. Words which were started as slang had risen in value and become an essential part of our colloquial or literary vocabulary.

Dictatorship In France Is Not Unlikely If Recovery Decrees Fail

Paris.—Premier Pierre Laval gave warning a dictatorship of France was not unlikely if present measures fail in the enforcement of his recovery decrees, which have already caused disorder and bloodshed.

Paris.—Sounding an appeal for public order while its recovery program is placed in effect, the French government declared war on the economic depression with a new series of decrees conceived by Premier Laval and his political and financial advisers.

Meanwhile the Royalist, Fascist, or other rightist parties in France were blamed by a united leftist press for the disorders which have swept France, leaving in their wake three dead, two critically wounded and scores suffering minor injuries or in jail.

Reports from Toulon, Brest, Cherbourg and Lorient—the four great naval bases and arsenal cities where the rioting occurred—stated order had been restored, with no strikers and no attempts at further demonstrations against the previous Laval economy laws. Heavy reinforcements of mobile guards and troops, however, continue to patrol Toulon and Brest.

Rightist newspapers have scored the riots and demanded prompt and severe punishment of the guilty. On their side it is pointed out that police investigations at Brest show that three militant Communists visited that port three days before the disorders and are suspected of having fomented the trouble. Syndicate leaders, however, scoff at this explanation.

Lord Beaconsfield Chooses Sir Robert Borden For Port

Ottawa.—Sir Robert Borden, former prime minister of Canada, will be the first president of the Dominion Drama Festival, a corporation established by royal charter in May to commemorate the King's Silver Jubilee and to ensure the perpetuation of the drama festival. Announcement of the officers of the corporation was made by Hon. C. H. Cahan, secretary of state. All are nominated by the Earl of Beaconsfield, governor-general, as the charter provides.

Of this amount $65,000 was specified as follows: $25,000 to the New York Club; $10,000 to the hospital for sick children; $10,000 to the Christie Street Military hospital; $10,000 to the Institute for the Blind; $10,000 to the Church of the Precious Blood, Wexford, Ont.; $1,000 to the Carmelite orphanage, and $1,000 to a Toronto fresh air fund.

Britons Not Accepted

London.—The Ethiopian legion has turned down "with sincere thanks" the hundreds of British citizens seeking to enlist in the Ethiopian army. Refusal was understood to be due to lack of funds and uncertainty over the future status of foreign soldiers in the event of war.

Readjustment of Trade May Be Discussed At Anglo-Jap Conference

Tokyo.—Great Britain has formally proposed an Anglo-Japanese conference here next autumn to discuss questions affecting the two countries and not yet settled, it was said.

The newspaper Yomiuri said diplomatic observers believed the government would ask for positive British co-operation in readjusting trade relationship between England and Japan. Yomiuri pointed out Britain has an inexhaustible supply of natural resources and a large market, which Japan contends is closed to the outside world through the economic bloc, strengthened by the Ot-

Appointed To Finance Post

R. J. Roberts Has Been Made Assistant Deputy Minister

Ottawa.—Bennett J. Roberts, comptroller of government guarantee, has been appointed assistant deputy minister of finance. Announcement was made by Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes.

Mr. Roberts has almost 19 years' experience in executive positions in the department of finance and has been closely associated with many aspects of public finance in that period. He is a graduate of Toronto University in political science, and has been successively private secretary of the department and, latterly, controller of the government guarantee branch.

He was secretary of the tariff inquiry commission in 1920, of the banking and currency commission in 1933, was associated with the royal commission on railways and transportation in 1932, and has acted on a number of important inter-departmental committees, including the superannuation committee. Under legislation passed at the last session of parliament he was appointed a member of the Canadian farm loan board.

May Need Canadian Wheat

U.S. Crop Report Shows Shortage Of High Grade Grain

New York.—"Trade estimates" that probably 40,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat may be needed by the United States during the 1935-36 crop year were reported by the New York Journal of Commerce.

The Journal discussed in its "Business Outlook" column the government crop report, which showed a reduction in prospective U.S. winter and spring wheat yield of 123,000,000 bushels from the July 1 report.

"As damage to the spring crop has increased since the preparation of the government report," the newspaper said, "it now seems certain that a considerable volume of high grade wheat must be imported. Total indicated supplies are larger than domestic requirements for the year. However, much of the spring wheat is of light weight so that flour requirements measured in bushels of wheat will be greater than usual."

Hail Damage Heavy

Storm In Alberta Ruins Thousands Of Acres Of Wheat

Calgary.—Two hundred thousand acres of wheat crop are in ruins from the hailstorm on June 13, though the catastrophe was too great to be concealed, the death list was considerably larger than Nazi authorities admitted.

First reports of the storm said only 3,000 acres of crops had been destroyed but Vaughan S. Kimpton, Liberal candidate in the Gleichen provincial riding, here told of the much heavier damage than originally reported.

Mr. Kimpton said the hail, driven by a high wind, was piled 13 inches deep in places, and that wheat stalks, cut off by egg-sized stones, were piled against fences. Trees and hedges were stripped of leaves, and many game birds killed. Partridges were found beaten to death, covering their young which were also dead.

Italy Pays Heavy Tolls

In Six Months War Transports Through Suez Canal Cost $10,000,000

Port Said, Egypt.—Approximately 340,000 Italian troops and laborers have passed through the Suez canal in the last six months, en route to East Africa, official figures disclosed. In a single day recently, nine Italian transports laden with soldiers, aeroplanes, tanks and artillery explosives made the passage of the canal from the Mediterranean to the Red sea.

Not all Italian transports are bound for East Africa, however. The statistics show that in the last three weeks, six large Italian steamers carrying more than 5,000 Italian soldiers suffering from malaria, dysentery and typhoid made the transit of the canal for Italy.

Officials estimated that in the last three months, the Italian government had paid the Suez administration $10,000,000 in canal dues on war transports.

Will Try Another Flight

Kingsford-Smith Anxious To Break England To Australia Route

Honolulu.—Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, looking none the worse for a recent operation on his nose, arrived from Sydney, Australia, on the steamship Monterey en route to London to begin another flight to Australia. As usual, he proclaimed it would be his "last big hop."

The aviator, who has flown the Pacific between California and Australia twice, is bound for Los Angeles to take his airplane, Lady Southern Cross, out of storage and fly it to New York. From there he planned to ship the plane to London, and, with Tom Pethybridge, of Los Angeles, as mechanic and co-pilot, attempt to break the flight record from England to Australia.

Sir Charles said he expected to confer with Juan Trippe concerning the possibility of co-operation between Kingsford-Smith's Anzac service and the Pan-American Airways in connection with a rumored Pan-American line from Honolulu to Australia.

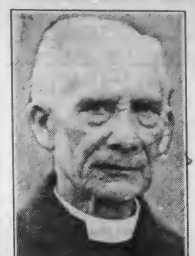

Explosives Take Many Lives

Losses In German Munitions Factory Said To Be Concealed

London.—Nazi press censorship has concealed heavy losses of life in German munitions factory explosions recently, a special correspondent of the Manchester Guardian disclosed.

He said 20 workers were killed at Madgeburg in February by an explosion of which the general public never heard. Ten more workers in the same factory were killed by another blast, and a number were killed on July 23 at Bochum. He added that in the most disastrous of all, the Reinsdorf explosion on June 13, though the catastrophe was too great to be concealed, the death list was considerably larger than Nazi authorities admitted.

Second Typhoon Hits China

Terrific Loss Of Life Is Feared By Officials

Amoy, China.—Fukien province has been struck by a second typhoon which ripped inland from the sea, devastating a huge area.

Coming close behind the other hurricane, officials feared a terrific loss of life. The typhoon was regarded as the worst in a quarter of a century.

The brunt of the storm appeared to hit the coast 60 miles south of here, smashing inland over the heavily populated area. All communications were destroyed.

The heavy winds on the fringe of the typhoon struck Amoy and wrecked fishing fleets close by. Hswei, a small market town northwest of Chuanchow, was reported under 25 feet of water.

The deadly typhoon affected virtually every section of the southern half of the great province, centering at Chuanchow, 100 miles north of Amoy. There some 2,000 homes were reported destroyed. It was described as the worst typhoon to strike China's south coast in many years.

Refugee camps have been crowded in all sections of the flooded areas, where crops and villages have been obliterated by the widespread waters.

Crop Has Deteriorated

Seven Million Acres Of Wheat Affected By Rust

Winnipeg.—Thirty per cent of the prairie provinces' wheat acreage, approximately 7,000,000 acres, is infected by stem rust, says the Sanford Evans statistical service weekly crop report.

The West's wheat crop has deteriorated "very badly" during the past three weeks, says the report, and early estimates of yields in Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan indicate "very serious" losses to common head wheats.

Epidemic Kills Horses

Mosquito Blamed For Disease Which Is Spreading In Manitoba

Winnipeg.—A new type of virulent mosquito is blamed for an outbreak of encephalomyelitis among horses in central Manitoba's farming area, and indications were the disease was spreading.

At least 75 horses already have died in the area, reports to the Manitoba government showed, and it was believed the toll probably would be much heavier as further reports are received.

The disease produces inflammation of the brain and spinal cord, and is believed caused by an ultra-microscopic virus. Animals afflicted real drunkenly, become drowsy and quickly die. Veterinarians said the new type of mosquito transmitted the disease.

Equine encephalomyelitis was first definitely recognized in 1930. It took a heavy toll among horses in eastern United States in 1933 and 1934.

Game Law Changes

Saskatchewan Has Made Several Cuts In Open Season

Regina, Sask.—Two weeks have been clipped off the open season in Saskatchewan for prairie chickens and ruffed grouse for 1935. Seasons for all other upland game birds and migratory birds remain unchanged, although some revision is made in the bag and possession limits in some cases.

Female moose have been placed on the protected list. Otherwise his game regulations and tag limits remain unchanged.

Bag limits for duck have been reduced from 15 to 10 a day and the possession limit has been reduced from 50 to 25 birds.

A number of changes have been made in the season dates for the taking of fur bearing animals. In most cases 10 days have been clipped off the beginning of the season and two weeks have been added.

Regional Freight Tariff

Ottawa.—A regional tariff on imported cantaloupe, muskmelons, honeydew, cantaloupe and honeydew applicable to western Canada, was announced by Hon. R. C. Matthews, minister of national revenue. The tariff takes the form of fixing the value for duty purposes at an advance of four cents a pound on the true invoice value of these commodities. The tariff became operative on August 7.

Lowest Interest Rate

Ottawa.—Sale by public tender of $30,000,000 in treasury bills maturing November 1 next, announced by Hon. E. W. Rhodes, minister of finance, was at the lowest interest rate ever secured, averaging less than 1 1/4 per cent. The bills were disposed of at an average price of $99.690226 yielding 1.237805 per cent.

Seek Airline Sites

St. John's, Nfld.—In Newfoundland to examine suitable aerodromes and marine bases for a proposed north Atlantic service between Great Britain, Newfoundland and Canada, two British aviation experts stepped ashore from the liner Nova Scotia. The officials are J. H. McCleure, operational advisor to the director of general civil aviation in Great Britain and Maurice Banks, technical advisor.

More Wheat In Store

Ottawa.—Canadian wheat in store for the week ended July 31 amounted to 195,296,515 bushels, an increase of 5,181,427 bushels over the previous week, and an increase of 9,856,236 bushels against the same week last year, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported.

Works Program Issued By Premier Of France Totals Many Millions

Paris.—Five persons were reported killed and 200 injured in prolonged rioting through the narrow streets of Toulon when infantrymen and mobile guards closed all roads leading from the city.

The rioting grew out of demonstrations by maritime workers protesting pay cuts decreed in Premier Laval's new economy laws. The Toulon disorders were the worst of a series which occurred in many French seaport cities.

While fatal rioting broke out over pay cuts, Premier Laval emerged from a cabinet meeting to announce plans for a 1,000,000,000-franc (over $66,000,000) public works program which he expected to reduce unemployment greatly.

He issued a statement concerning new decrees-laws decided upon by his government to lessen food prices, preserve the value of the franc and reduce unemployment.

Mr. Laval announced the creation of a central unemployment committee which will be particularly entrusted with the limitation and control of foreign workers.

Many of the decrees, he said, are designed to protect savings, putting them on the same basis they had before the crisis. Bankruptcy laws are to be revised for the better protection of creditors, and company officials are to be made more responsible. Others are measures intended to improve foreign trade and commercial relations with French colonies. New credits for colonial trade are expected to be created, prices of meat regulated, and 150,000 tubercular animals eliminated.

Farmers are to be helped by a reduction of 10 per cent in the inheritance tax on farms, and taxes on artificial fertilizers are to be reduced. The 10 per cent penalty on back taxes is to be removed, and court costs in connection with taxation cases are to be reduced.

Transatlantic liners were tied up and threats were hurled against government officials as the marine workers continued on strike in Le Havre and paraded in demonstrations at other ports.

Here, we see Stanley Woods, the winner of the most thrilling Tourist Trophy Race seen by Maxman since the contest was inaugurated at the Isle of Man in 1907, rounding Governor's Bridge on the last lap of the 204-mile race. No one believed Wood could win the race as he was 26 seconds behind J. Guthrie with one lap to go, but instead of stopping at his pit for re-fueling he dashed on at 100 miles an hour to win the thrilling race by four seconds. He gambled that he would have enough gas to win the race and he just made it.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

SOMETHING for nothing is impossible except it takes from he who hath to give to he who hath not. That credits of $25 or more can be given monthly to the people of Alberta by creating it with only a fountain pen is indeed a rainbow of the brightest hue which will fade very quickly.

COLEMAN heard Mr. E. O. Duke, the Social Credit candidate, tell what has so often been repeated by his leader, that poverty in the midst of plenty would be a thing of the past; that purchasing power would be placed in the hands of the people by giving them a basic dividend. Despite proof having been given that to do this it would require far more than can be raised in taxes, Social Creditors accept on faith alone the gilded promise, to the accompaniment of the singing of a hymn as a further stimulant to religious-political enthusiasm.

FROM Mr. Aberhart down to the most amateur candidate, not one has told of a plan whereby this can be done, but state that if elected, experts will be employed to work out the details. It would require magicians of a higher degree of mysticism than usual to do this. From a working-class constituency viewpoint, Social Credit has no appeal, except the bait of the proposed basic dividend. This is the strongest factor to gain votes, but bitter will be the disappointment to those who pinning their faith to it by their votes, discover it is a promise impossible of fulfilment.

DONALD MacNEIL, the Liberal candidate, has aggressively pursued his campaign and won many supporters during the past month. Whatever degree of success he has attained in his profession is due to his dogged persistency and keen mentality. A Nova Scotian who has had to fight his own battle through college and university, his energy and broad impulses arouse admiration, especially among those who favor younger men being entrusted with the solving of some of the problems that assail the body politic.

HE IS a candidate of a responsible party organization, and without party government the country would be at "sixes and sevens" and public opinion would be kept in a continual turmoil. Organization in politics as in business is vital for the carrying out of policies, which is the reason many of the traditional Conservatives, having no candidate of their own in the field, turn to the Liberal candidate.

MR. CRUICKSHANK, Independent candidate, will give his first public address to Coleman people on Friday evening. In 1930 it was not necessary for him to hold meetings; he was given votes without barely asking. There is a tougher battle this time, with four candidates in the field, and as he has not held a meeting in the five years since he was elected in June 1930, he should have more than an earful to tell on this occasion. Fred Mayer, who is "some noise" in Drumheller constituency as an Independent, is billed to speak on the same platform. Curiosity will prompt many to attend, to discover the platform on which the Independent group appeals for support.

cost between the States and Canada, and the amount of business done by Woolworths, who sent their profits to American shareholders. Work and Wages had been promised to British Columbia, but what had been the result? She hoped all would get work with a Social Credit system and make greater use of the machine. She deplored the loss of life insurance policies which had been obtained through years of saving, and stated if the present system continued in a few years we will not have any jobs. Increased purchasing power which Social Credit will give is the only remedy.

She exhorted her hearers not to be alarmed at all the knocks they are receiving, for the most stones are found under the trees bearing the best fruit. Vote to share in the "cultural heritage" which belongs to each individual, she concluded.

MR. DUKE SPEAKS

The candidate, opening his remarks by referring to the landing of Jacques Cartier in Canada 400 years ago, stated that a country of great promise now had thousands of people in dire distress, with one seventh of the people on relief. Burdensome taxation, men in relief camps, lack of purchasing power, showed something was wrong with the system. The monetary system cannot continue.

He cited the productive capacity of machines in various industries, whereby man power is displaced, the curtailing of production, and various other measures used to try and promote prosperity, yet 2,400,000 people had died of starvation and 1,220,000 people had committed suicide. Those in control found it profitable to destroy products the people needed, and governments were guilty of sabotage.

Douglas predicted that we could not go on under the present system beyond 1940, yet the old-line parties hung on with no solution to offer. The basic dividend would not be paid in money, but each person would receive a credit entry of not less than $25 a month. It took in interest to pay on the present debt of Canada $314,993,262 annually. Is there any prospect of improvement under such a load?

Though the province had no control over import or export trade, it can operate a Social Credit state within its own boundaries. Some of the older people could possibly live out under the present system, but the younger people had no hope under it. On August 22 they would have the chance to vote for the biggest thing in their lives, for a new shuffle of the

ALERT EYES PICK OUT VARIOUS ERRORS IN PRINTING

To show that even the smallest errors, intentional or otherwise, are not overlooked by the vigilant eyes of readers, one young lady writes: "The mis-spelt word this week appears in the advertisement of Ed. Ledieu, the word 'invite' being spelt 'invited'. In the advertisement of the Associated Grocers, Rowntrees should be spelt with an apostrophe 's', also under the item 'Pork and Beans, Heinz, in — 10c', appears the word 'and' instead of some other item. The word 'sox' is not exactly right in Webster's ad, and 'Nite' in Cole's Theatre ad.

"Respectfully yours," "Mrs. W."

As a special prize, regardless of whether she found the intentional error or not, The Journal awards a year's subscription to Mrs. Weir for her accuracy.

Oliver Brown, in addition to pointing out what she considered an error in the word "installment" in Pattinson's ad, also searched the editorial column and found a word spelt "tray" for "trying".

Violet Knowles states the word "Socks" should be "Socks". She is right according to Webster's Dictionary, though many advertisers persist in spelling it "Sox".

Cecilia Mitchell and Teresa Grenario picked out "tycks" in Associated Grocers' ad, though it was a typographical error. Roy Grenario picked out "Macaroni", but this was not an error.

Mrs. Fred Brown picked out the word "invited" in the Blairmore Greenhouses announcement in Ledieu's ad, which should have been 'invite'.

To settle who should win the prize, the answers were placed in a hat and the first drawn out was adjudged the winner. It was Violet Knowles with the word "Sox", correctly spelt "Socks". Violet will receive a year's subscription to The Journal.

Competitors are urged to send in their replies any time up till Monday by dropping them in the letter box at The Journal office, or mailing same.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-eb, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers her a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. They are met at the railway station by Columbine Nelson, who in turn introduces Mark and Matthew Adams, two neighbors of Aunt Columbine, and the whole party goes to Pine Ridge, which village causes dismay to both Nancy and Jack because of its dilapidated appearance and general look of poverty. Nancy and Jack are shown to the rooms they are to occupy, and both the young people consider the furniture and decorations hateful and, contrasting the present quarters with their luxurious home in Boston, wonder if they can endure the change for any length of time. Aunt Columbine tells why she wrote the letter to them, and relates some of her early experiences at Pine Ridge of hostile Indians and forest fires, of her father's hunt for the gold, and of her mother's splendid spirit, but frail body, which could not endure the strain of pioneer life.

Nancy set out one afternoon to climb to the top of a hill so as to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and the scenery. Mark and Jack told her to follow. A truck came along the road, driven by Matthew Adams, and she saw him which way to go. They ascended the hill, took around, and then go on to Cousin Columbine's. Adam tells Nancy that his brother Luke has broken his leg, and that Jack Nelson has been hired to help out while Luke's leg gets better.

Now Go On With The Story

"Dear useful Aunt Louise: A blizzard is raging and I can't see Pike's Peak from my tower, and have to hop up every five minutes to drop a log into the stove. I could write in the farm kitchen, but Aurora Tubbs would insist on talking, and I've simply got to get this down on paper. It came of my trying to find something to read this stormy morning. All Cousin Columbine has is Scott and Dickens—"

"I love Dickens, and Scott too," Phil interrupted. "I can read what I want when I visit Cousin Columbine. Go on, Aunt Lou."

"Your sister does not share your admiration of the classics," observed his aunt. She says, "... and they look so dull (especially Scott), and the volumes are so heavy that I gave it up. I asked Aurora if there was a library here, and she said nobody in Pine Ridge had time to read, though the drug store does a thriving business in the sort of magazines that make you shudder and look schoolmarmy, Aunt Louise! Anyway, that gave me the idea. When I talked with Cousin Columbine she said that there was no Aladdin in Pine Ridge to rub his wonderful lamp, you know, and wish for a library; and while I was thinking what I'd do to this awful place if I were Aladdin, I got an inspiration!"

"I think she's pretty good getting it in the letter," grumbled Phil.

"It happens to be in the next paragraph," sonny," said Aunt Louise, and went on reading. "This is this; I'm rushing my letter so you'll get it before Christmas vacation. I want to start a library here, Aunt Lou. If I got the books, I'm sure I'd find a place to keep them. There's a schoolhouse here that isn't used so the children are carried to a county school in buses, which would be wonderful. I'd open the place two or three afternoons a week, and no matter what Aurora says, I'm sure the young people and old ones too, would be glad to take out books if they had the chance."

"And here's where you come in! Wouldn't each girl at school do a volume or two if you told them about the scheme? And haven't you and Mother got a lot you'd like to get rid of? No matter if they're shabby. Juanita Tubbs will help me cover them with paper. I'm sure the Adams will give 'em too; and if you have any friends with books to part with, just grab them for my Aladdin library. That's what I'll call it if I can get somebody to paint a sign without being paid for the work. The Aladdin Library! Won't that look swell over the door?"

"I shan't say a word to any one until I hear from you, but do write soon or I'm likely to explode. With the exception of the Adam boys and Mary Taylor, the postmaster's daughter, this population looks as if it needed to be shaken up, and I'm sure a library will be a step in the right direction."

Louise paused a moment, and then went on to a smile of amusement lighting her eyes: "Do not misunderstand, however. I have not become a missionary, or anything like that; but when you see people who have so little, it makes you think. Besides, I haven't enough to do. And Jack said Cousin Columbine wanted a sign! All the poor dear did want was to see some one belonging to her, before she died. And she's a long way from dying, if you ask me—the briskest (if there's no such word it doesn't matter) old lady I ever saw, and the most interesting."

"There's no time for more. The fire is almost out, and the wind is howling, and snow is stirring through the cracks in my tower windows. Cousin Columbine says I'll be dry as dust in a week, but I wonder. Love to every one at home, and do, do, help."

Louise laid down the letter, and looked up.

"What are you grinning for, Phil Nelson?"

"I was thinking that Nancy'd make a real swell missionary," said the little boy. "I've got a lot of old books that she can have, just as well as not; and maybe some of the kids at school have got some too. Do you know if I got a lot of books for the Pine Ridge library, that Cousin Columbine would pay my fare to Colorado?"

"Dad smiled, and said: 'Some one will have to pay expressage on those books! But we'll manage that if we go without Christmas dinner. I'm proud of our girl, thinking this up all by herself; and we've got to help her put it through. It's fortunate we stored the books out here, Margaret. We'll send to-morrow going over them.'

"And I'll pay the expressage," promised his sister. "It won't be necessary to go hungry Christmas day."

Phil drew a deep breath of relief. "That's the stuff! It'll be a funny enough Christmas anyway, with Jack and Nancy gone. What are you thinking about, Mother? You look awful solemn all far-away."

"Your mother started, pulling herself together and smiling a bit wistfully. "Do you know," she told her family in surprise, "I've been so busy I only just remembered that—that Nancy was to have made her debut to-night!"

CHAPTER XIII.

Two thousand miles away in Pine Ridge, Colorado, there had been no such forgetfulness. Nancy's first thought on waking was that this was to have been the day of her debut, perhaps because her eyes had fallen on a mammoth calendar (its "decorations" depicting a "lovers' couple seated beside a purple lake), which was Aurora's donation to what the girl had christened her "chamber of horrors!"

So this was the day she had looked forward to so long! Nancy snuggled down under the patch-work quilt and gave herself to the luxury of introspection. What thrills she and Mother had had over their plans!

ITCHING TORTURE Stopped Instantly

D. D. D. Prescription Speeds Relief

Even the most stubborn itching of eczema, pimples, mosquito or other insect bites, rashes and many other skin afflictions, quickly yields to Dr. Deming's pure, cooling, liquid, antiseptic D. D. D. Prescription. Forty years' world-wide success. Treats the skin, soothing and healing the inflamed tissues. No fuss—no cure. Clear, greenish and painless. It dries up almost immediately. Try D. D. D. Prescription now. Stops the most intense itching instantly. A 50c trial bottle at any drug store, is guaranteed to prove it—no money back. D. D. D. is made by the owners of ITALIAN BALM.

How exciting to indulge in all those evening gowns! And what would be happening to her now if that miserly stock market hadn't crashed, and Dad crashed with it?

Nancy glanced at her watch. It was seven o'clock—nine in Boston; and before long the flowers would have come pouring in: flowers from family friends, girl friends, girl friends too. She could almost see Aunt Judy's eyes shining with delight and pride as each fragrant tribute was brought in—dear Aunt Judy, who'd never done anything but look after other people! Mother would be a whirl of efficient excitement, enjoying every thrilling moment, and—

Oh, what was the use of these imaginings? Nancy asked herself. Even if Dad accumulated another fortune there would be no debut for her; and the chances were against his doing that—at his age.

Fifty-six! Nancy wondered how it would seem to be fifty-six—shuddered—and then realized that Dad didn't seem old at all, and often acted younger than she did! This was a cheering thought, and the girl kicked off her quilt and ran to close the windows.

At any rate, it was a glorious day, and that all that snow had vanished, sinking into the ground and leaving everything quite dry again. Nancy opened her door, to be greeted by the aroma of frying bacon. After all, the day might not be so bad. She was going to the Springs with Mrs. Adam (whom she had not yet met), to purchase the sport shoes as well as some ten cent "jokes" for Christmas; something to make laughter at the dinner table, though Cousin Columbine assured that there would be laughter at the Adam dinner table, jokes or no jokes.

Nancy was late to breakfast. Cousin Columbine pretended to be provoked, but the girl grinned at it.

"I was too comfortable to move; and besides, I—well, I started day-dreaming."

"About what?" asked the old lady crisply.

"Nancy consumed two bites of muffin, and then said: 'Of all mad words of tongue or pen, Cousin Columbine, the saddest are these—it might have been.' I'll admit I was pitying myself a little. This happens to be the day when Nancy Nelson expected to launch her bark on 'the social sea.'"

She laughed, but it wasn't a natural laugh, and Cousin Columbine observed her gravely.

"Was giving up all that fuss and feathers a disappointment?"

"It was a little," said Nancy. "Could I have two tea eggs, please?"

And what time did Mrs. Adam say she'd come?"

"At nine o'clock. I wish you'd run down to the store before you leave, Nancy, and get some baking powder. Aurora's going to make a cake."

"Do you want chocolate or coconut?" questioned Aurora, poking her head in at the door. "If it's to be coconut, you'd better get another box; but consider—"

"Get the coconut anyway," broke in Miss Columbine, and motioned Aurora to go away. "I'm glad you won't have this trip to-day, child. You won't have time to be regretting what can't be helped. I want you to get a pretty scarf to give Eve Adams."

Never spends a penny on herself, and she likes nice things, and knows 'em too. That's all, except a book for John."

"You mean the old Adam?" asked Nancy, dimpling.

Cousin Columbine nodded.

"You'd better ask Eve what he'd like; and if you're through breakfast, go right down to the store now. Those Adam people are often ahead of us."

"You bring a couple of pounds of powdered sugar," called Aurora as Nancy started off. "And" (as she reached the gate) "a cake of chocolate."

When Nancy returned laden with paper bags of various sizes, the Adam girls were standing before the door; and as she laid her burdens on the kitchen table, Aurora said: "Well, here you are! And Matthew Adam waiting six minutes. His mother couldn't wait, and I have to goodness that boy don't keep his mouth shut all the way. He's in the sitting room with Miss Columbine right now, but if you was to ask me, his brother Mark would have given you a more exciting time."

"Is Mrs. Adam sick?" questioned the girl as he went out.

"No, my dear," responded Cousin Columbine, "but Luke comes home to-morrow, anyway, and Matthew had some errands he wished to do. Now run and get your things together, child; and don't hurry through your shopping for Matthew Adam or anybody else. If you're back by supper time it's soon enough."

Nancy was ready before Matt was; but Aurora stopped them, rushing from the kitchen as the engine roared.

"Get that those woolen stockings!" she said, "and then go right into a rest room and put 'em on. You see she does it, Matthew Adam."

"I'll do my best," Matt promised, his face crimson.

Corner In Earthworms

Speculators Are Holding Back Supplies From Melbourne Zoo

A new form of "racket" has been started owing to the dietary of the quaint duckbilled platypus which has its home in the Melbourne zoo.

Not least among the queer features of this animal is the huge appetite for earthworms, of which it now consumes more than 800 per day, considerably more than its own weight. The authorities of the zoo are now confronted with the fact that speculators in earthworms are holding back their supplies of the commodity, and are asking 18 cents per dozen instead of 12 previously charged.

It is a question of who will "turn" first, the worm speculators, or the curator of the zoo.

Used Distress Money

Austria Resorted To Many Substitutes When Coins Disappeared

During the war and after the collapse of the Austrian Monarchy, when coins disappeared and were largely hoarded, many different kinds of paper notes, so-called "distress money," were issued by various towns, villages and provinces. In addition to primitive slips of paper, pieces of wood, parchment, leather, lacquer, and even porcelain were used as money. All these are on show at a remarkable exhibition at the Hagenbund Gallery at Vienna. The exhibition shows that not only societies, but also innkeepers, newspapers, and political parties issued money tokens.

Why Name Was Used

The bug collecting hobby of an English aeroplane builder, J. de Havilland, has made the name Moth known over the "skyways of the world. As an entomologist, de Havilland specializes in the collection of moths—so the majority of his products are named after moths or some species of moth, such as Gypsy Moth, Puss Moth, Moth, Dragon, etc.

Paradise For Snakes

Six Species May Be Seen In One English District

If one wants to see snakes, he is advised to go to the clay-mining district north of Corfe Castle, in Dorsetshire. If there is a makes' paradise in Britain, this is the place. There are six species of British reptiles, and representatives of all of them, including the rare smooth snake and sand lizard may be seen here.

The other four species are the adder, the grass snake, the slow worm, and the common lizard. The adder is the only one of these reptiles that is poisonous and its bite is rarely fatal, though, naturally, medical attention should be obtained as quickly as possible if one is bitten. But it is not often that anyone is bitten, and this snake has been described as "dangerous only to toy dogs, stupid babies, and invalids."

Collections Show Increase

Figures For Federal Income Taxes Higher This Year

Canadians are dipping into their pockets to pay more and more federal income taxes. It was shown in figures released by the department of national revenue. In the 19 taxation districts, $58,407,904 was collected in the first four months of the fiscal year, an increase of $15,774,923 over 1934.

Only two districts, Quebec and Regina, showed decreases this year. Quebec a decrease of $139,745 and Regina, $1,301.

Little Helps For This Week

"Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day." Thesalonians 5:5.

Serene will be our days, and bright. And happy will our nature be, When love in our unerring light, And joy in our own security.

—Wordsworth.

Nothing can produce so great a serenity of life as a mind free from guilt, and kept untroubled not only from actions but from purposes that are wicked. By this means the soul will not only be unpolluted, but not disturbed; the fountain will run clear and unobscured, and the streams that flow from it will be just and honest deeds, a bribe energy of spirit which makes a man an enthusiast in his joy. For as shrubs that are cut down with the morning dew on them do for a long time retain their fragrance, so the good actions of a wise man perfume his mind and leave a rich rent behind them. So that joy, as it were, is watered with these essences and owes its flourishing to them.

Place Was Transformed

Overseas Visitors Unaware They Were Received In Historic Room

Many of the guests at the Government garden party to overseas visitors at No. 10 Downing Street were quite unaware that when they were received by Mrs. Baldwin and Miss MacDonald it was in the Cabinet Room, after a London publication. This dignified but unpretentious room, the most famous in the British Empire, if not in the world, had been cleared of its usual furnishings and in particular of the big table at which so many fateful decisions have been taken. So unlike a meeting room it looked that one well-known overseas guest, as he left it, asked if it would be possible for him to have a look at the Cabinet Room. "But you have just come out of it," he was told. "Then let me go back and have a good look round it," he replied, and back he went.

CALGARY BOARD of TRADE TAKES STAND ON SOCIAL CREDIT

IT having been represented to the Calgary Board of Trade that people were looking to it for some statement regarding Social Credit, the Council of the Board after prolonged and careful consideration of the arguments advanced for and against the proposals, has decided to submit the following as its considered conclusions on the subject:

1. The proposals must necessarily involve crushing taxation entirely beyond the capacity of the people of Alberta to pay.
2. Any attempt to fix just prices can only result in incredible confusion and paralysis of business to the detriment of every producer and consumer.
3. The suggestion that dividends can be paid out of cultural heritage and undeveloped natural resources is impracticable and impossible.
4. The Social Credit monetary proposals will lead to a condition similar to that which occurred in Germany, involving the Province, the farmer, the wage earner, and others, in financial disaster.
5. The Social Credit proposals will isolate Alberta and render it impossible for either the farmer or the business man to buy or sell to advantage.
6. Finally, such an experiment as is outlined by the Social Credit proposals will lead to chaos, and entail great suffering from which the province would not recover for many years.
